CEREAL PRODUCTION

ABOUT US

San Donato was set up more than 30 years ago in Modigliana, in the Province of Forlì - Italy, where the head office and a part of the grain warehouses are still located. But it is in 1997, with the acquisition of a big factory in Toscanella Di Dozza, a few kilometres far from the important motorway intersection of Bologna, that a working process specialised and focused on the production of organic grains has started.

In an area of over 30,000 m<sup>2</sup> rises a modern factory for the processing and storage of over 12,000 tons of organic and conventional cereals for foodstuffs and feeding. Vertical silos and traditional warehouses, equipped with the most up-to-date cooling and temperature control plants, grant a correct and suitable preservation of the goods, following the most strict sanitary standards.

In order to grant its supplies of organic grains, San Donato has a direct management and control of the whole supply chain operating directly with the agricultural cooperatives, the farmers and the producer organizations.

To this purpose, it enters into the cultivation agreements with the above-mentioned operators and, through the supply of seeds and fertilizers in conformity with the norms of the EEC 2092/91 Regulation, San Donato directly supervises and monitors the relevant productions of grains and organic legumes. Furthermore, it supplies the operators with the technical support necessary to obtain a product of excellent quality, for which it also grants the traceability.

The whole management of the organic productions are under the control of the Society for Control of Biological grains of Bologna CCPB.
